

Michele G. Gangnes

Principal, Law Office of Michele G. Gangnes

Michele has over 40 years' experience in banking and public finance law, first as a partner in two Pacific Northwest law firms before returning to her native Texas in 1995 as a sole practitioner. Michele is a nationally recognized attorney in the highest categories of legal ability and ethics, and her legal opinions are accepted in the U.S. capital markets. She is also a veteran water and environmental volunteer activist in central Texas. Starting with the original attempted “water grab” by San Antonio and Alcoa in 1998, she has worked pro bono on water issues for Neighbors for Neighbors, the League of Independent Voters of Texas, and Environmental Stewardship. She and her partner Bill Turner live in the Blue community, in northwestern Lee County.
